About My Book: Growing up without a father a man role model left me vulnerable to a lot of things especially women. I've been used in a lot of different ways than one, but I still respected all women even though they didn't treat me right. Just from seeing my Mother struggle to support me and my four other siblings, and me having my first child made me wanna do right and not repeat the same pattern that my father had long ago. But now I still find myself in the same exact situation, spending a lot of my time away from home and my family in prison without any love or support.

"The Man You See Today"

A man should always stand by his family, putting them first above his own needs, no matter what, giving them unconditional love...

A man should always admit whenever he's wrong, and then be able to apologize and later make amends...

A man should always dress his best for every occasion, so that he'll always get the respect that he needs from the people around him...

A man should always be prepared and always on time, so that people will be able to trust and believe in him...

A man should always live by a code or at least make an honest living...

A man should always treat people with respect or at least the same way that he wants to be treated...

A man should always believe in himself and something real, because if he doesn't then who will and plus he'll be subject to fail for anything...

A man should always be himself no matter what, because that's the only way to really know who's your real friend or lover...

A man should always fight his own battles instead of asking for help, because if he's man enough to start it then he's man enough to finish it as well...

A man should always be a leader, never a follower, because it takes a real man to stand alone...

A man should never complain about his flaws, he should instead embrace them because that's how God made him...

A man should always show good manners all the time, because then that's what he'll be recognized for...

A man should never fear another man, because he is flesh and blood the same as you, and can be harmed...

A man should always treasure his wife and his time on Earth, showing her love and true affection, because tomorrow isn't always promised... That is the man that I hope to be before leaving this place called prison, so until then this is the man you see today...

"Our Father In Heaven"

Who needs a friend? I don't and I probably never will, because no matter what I go through at the end of the day, all I've got is myself...

Have you ever wondered why you sometimes find yourself by yourself a lot of the time, which only confirms what you already know that you're alone...

How many times have you heard, Not Yet! I don't know! Maybe! I can't!

I'm busy! Probably or I'll let you know...

Never getting a definite answer from your so called friends, which makes you wonder why they always got an excuse or if they're in fact my true friends...

If you're always putting your best foot forward, while they're constantly taking advantage of you or either they come around whenever they want or need something... Then you don't have any friends...

Do they judge you, tell you what you should or shouldn't do all the time... Do they bring uninvited guess to your house without notifying you first... Do they joke entirely too much where they never even consider your feelings at all in front of other people...

(Anthony Jr. Barnhill)

(Pg. 2)

Do they talk about people behind their backs or who they claim to dislike, and then later on they're all on that person's face...

Do you feel as if you can't trust them any more or confide in them about personal things in your life, because they talk too much...

Do they envy you or seem a little jealous of what you got in your life compared to theirs...

Do they always get excited whenever you do something for them, or you got money and everything they need and want...

Do these same friends be around whenever you're down and out, and have nothing to give or offer them...

Would these same friends be around if you were broke and homeless or even behind bars like right now behind those walls in prison...

I didn't think so, which proves my point that you only have one friend and that friend is Our Father In Heaven...

Is there anything more beautiful in life than two little toddlers playing together in harmony for the first time...

Is there anything more beautiful than two young couples who's experiencing true love for the very first time in their lives...

I know that there's at least one...

A father being reunited with his kids after seven years, and missing them group or to start their first day of school...

(Anthony Jr. Barabill)

(Pg. 36)

Finding joy and happiness whenever he writes or gets to hear their voices whenever he calls them over the phone...

Expressing all his feelings to them in order to rebuilt and also establishing a bond with them that was lost a long time ago...

Now that's what's beautiful to me, and also seeing them smile for the first and laugh as you hold them in your arms...

"My Forbidden Fruit"

Life with you is a RollerCoaster, scary but yet still exciting...

Filled with so many unexpected twists and turns and ups and downs...

Constantly craving the Adrenaline-Rush that I get from you, which leaves me feeling jubilant, and rapture like a petulant child... As if I were dreaming with my eyes wide open, as I fantasize about making sweet passionate love to you again...

Holding you close, kissing your sweet succulent lips down to every inch of your statuesque body, while exploring your delicate body, savoring your sweet juices as they erupt within you just like a volcano...

Creating an intense high that no man could ever give you, and no woman could ever fathom, making you lose control as you climax into complete bliss of Heaven on Earth, and giving you a child as we both come together in harmony...

The feeling of your soft warm lips wrapping around the head of my Dick, gives me an undescrivable feeling that words could never explain... Taking you into my arms, as you wrap your legs around my waist, while I thrust deep inside you into missionary style... I'll not only give you my all, but show you my sensitive, emotional, and vulnerable side as well, so that we both can connect in ways that neither of us ever knew existed...

Compelling us into a forever and unbreakable Bond that'll reunite us as one, not just physically or sexually, but also spiritually, emotionally, and mentally...

It just breaks my heart to be within these walls helpless, while everything just spins out of my control... Not being able to touch you... To kiss you... To Hold you... To Do Things for you... To Protect you... To make love to you, and most of all To marry you and give you another child...

But maybe that will all change my love on Valentine's Day 2018, whenever I get out, so then I can finally give you everything that you and I've been patiently waiting for... My Forbidden Fruit...

(Anthony Jr. Barnhill) (Pg.5)

"The Stranger Inside You"

I know that you don't know me, but I know enough about you...

To say nothing short of what you've already accomplished in life...

I wanna be the first to say that I am not a fan of your past, but I do envy the woman that God molded into this form...

Perhaps it's the things that you have endured, the struggles that you've been through that never fazed or hindered you from your true goals... I've seen you fall, but never crawl... I've seen you cry, but never lie, and I've seen your tears over the years that we've both known each other to know that your fears are no longer here...

I have come to appreciate the beautiful young woman that you've matured into, but happy as you may seem in front of others - I know that deep down within what really lies in wake...

Loneliness, Despair, and Pain is only part of what anyone could ever fathom or comprehend, but baby only you know the truth of it...

The world is truly blinded by what they see on the outside, instead of who you really are on the inside... The world may think they know you, but they only know what they see... To truly know someone is to know what they're thinking or either about to say without ever using words to express it...

You are truly a remarkable woman, but still remain a mystery to me, which is why I've always been intrigued by you since the first day I've laid eyes on you... I only know what the rest of the world does, but now I wanna know what they don't... "The Stranger Inside You"...

"You Can Count On Me"

When things seem to get you down, and it's like no one's around... When things seem to be getting worse, and you're always getting hurt... You Can Count On Me...

When your bills are over due, and you cannot make it through... When you're stuck at home alone, with no one to even phone... When you feel like giving up, with no one to lift you up... You Can Count On Me...

When your Birthday comes around, and no one remembers now... When you're up late at night, with no one to hold you tight... When you're feeling lonely now, with no one to help you smile... You Can Count On Me...

When you need a friend the most, but there's no one even close... When our kids are missing love, when all they need is just a hug... No matter how long I'm gone, I will never stray away, as long as you need me, here I'll stay because I will always find a way, so that you can always count on me...

"Just Because"

Just because, I'm far away... I still can reach you on my way... To bed I pray for you to stay, as long as you're here I'm always near... In spirit, in vision, and in your dreams... I intervene your heart and soul, then give to you what's more than gold...

(Anthony J. Barnhill) (Pg. 7)

Just because, your not my wife... I give to you as if I'm Christ... My love for one will always show, and continue to grow so you'll always know... Just Because...

"Happy Birthday"

On this day you made my day, when you came to me on this special day...

Your eyes, your smile, had made me smile... It was hard to believe when you were just a child...

The love I felt I could hardly bare from within my heart and in my soul just to show you I care...

So I leave to you these special words... That's short and sweet, but also true this very day...

"Happy Birthday"...

"Never Be"

There will never be a friend who will always be a friend... Not just the good but through the bad, that will really let you know...

There will never be a space in my heart to fill your place, no matter how long I'm gone, there will never be a clone...

There will never be a guy, who could ever feel your pain, from your past of the past, with those words to keep you sane...

(Anthony Jr Barnhill)

(Pg. 8)

There will never be a guy who can share a mother's love, to keep your kids feeling safe through it all no matter what... It will never be enough, because it's only one who fit the bill...

To grasp your mind, body and soul and to fill your heart with only joy... While your still young, until you're old...

And catch your heart and hold it tight, so you will always sleep at night... It's only me baby girl... Which is why it'll - Never Be...

"You're Meant To Be My Wife"

It's been a long time since I needed someone to complement me and matters in my life... Just to see your eyes beneath those eyebrows that are so graceful like a raptor wings in flight... Those same erotic eyes that have captivated me so many times by gazing into my very soul, making me a true believer of love at first sight...

You're such an exquisite woman, who have always galvanized me in so many ways than one, making me forget all my worries whenever I'm with you... Just the thought of melting into your arms again brings me under a spell, giving me leisurous joy... Like having my heart struck like a cord during a love song, leaving me feeling jubilant in rapture...

(Anthony Jr. Barnhill) (Pg. 9)

Your smile alone makes my day so bright and wonderful, radiating my entire body, making me and anyone else around you smile... The intelligence in your eyes tells me that, that smile you give is meant for me and me alone... Your kisses consumes me causing me to loose track of time and all self-control, while sealing and re-affirming our Bond completing our love for one another giving our lives new meaning and showing, and proving that anything's possible...

It just breaks my heart to know that you constantly have doubts about happy ever afters or finding true love and happiness, because living life alone without love is really not living at all... It's like dying alone or feeling sick inside without a cure, and I refuse to let that happen as long as I'm still breathing... Your demeanor is what reminds me of how close we can be, and why I fell in love with you...

You continue to fascinate me and leave me feeling like a petulant child, showing no reticence in holding back my feelings for you... I've been so dismayed in the past from all your doubts and fears whenever it came to dealing with love, because you felt as if no man could ever measure up to your standards... I came close but I messed up, so now all I ask for is another chance to prove to you how wrong I was back then, and how right I am for you...

Give me the chance to give you everything you ever wanted and needed in life... Making you feel loved, so alive, so in love, and never having to feel lonely or afraid to ever let your guard down again in your next relationship... Let me fill that void of emptiness inside your heart that you've been waiting for all your life... I understand everything that you've been through growing up all your life, so let me cloak you, shelter you and protect you from that ever happening to you ever again... Don't shut me out this time... I know that you probably believed that everything good for you was no good, and everything bad for you was just right... With evil constantly filling your appetite, it has blinded you from what God has already given to you, which has been there in front ~~of~~ of you all this time...

(Anthony J. Barnhill)

(Pg. 10)

So open up your eyes, and finally take advantage of what you been had in your life... Whether you realize it yet... Your Meant To Be My Wife....

"Love & Hate"

This pain that I'm feeling right now is so unbearable that I cannot even begin to explain it... I even fear it sometimes, because I'm afraid that I might not be able to control it for too much longer... I'm like a walking time bomb just waiting to explode on who ever triggers it, because I get so angry at every little thing now that it has become a second nature to me just like breathing in fresh air...

But there's nothing refreshing about this place called prison... The people who live and work here are the reasons why I'm so angry... They've pushed me beyond my limits, limits that I never knew I had until I was on the verge of my breaking point...

This anger is beyond closed doors... To even describe it as anger would be an understatement when it comes to my world of pain, but it's the only word that comes close to describing it...

What I hate most about this place is whenever people try to get close to you or touch you in ways that are uncomfortable, and don't even know you... Like faggots that pretend to be straight just to gain your friendship or gang members and thugs who have their hands in their pants and then wanna give you dap...

I also hate whenever people take too long in the shower, ~~on~~ on the phone whenever they know people are waiting... I hate whenever people just turn the T.V. when your watching it and never even have consideration to ask first... I hate whenever people stand behind you in lines like a quarterback getting way too close... I hate noisy people, I hate snitches, and people who call you by your full name instead of your nickname like their police on the low...

I hate liars and people who spread rumors or start drama for their own amusement and entertainment... I never thought that I would ever hate anyone, because I've always been such a humble person, but now I find myself hating everything including some of the people in my life...

It's because of this place... This place has truly changed me from better to worse, but in a good way, because now I can finally see who's really there for me, love me and also care for me... I just hate that it took ~~ten~~ years of my life behind bars to finally see the truth... That I never really had any real friends from the beginning - only followers...

It's kinda funny how whenever you've got everything right in front of you going good, you always got someone around you, but as soon as the smoke clears they do as well... I pray that God will save me from myself in time before I do something that will truly regret... I no longer believe in love or happy endings, because they're only fairy tales written in fictional books at least until my life changes...

I'm so anxious to leave this place that I sometimes fear that I'm not quite ready yet, because I have adapted to this sort of lifestyle in a bad way... Just from being around abnormal people for so long that everything else seems so normal to me...

But in reality it's not and some people look at me like I'm crazy... I fear that I may eventually become just like the people who I hate so much behind these walls, but the only thing that keeps me sane and saving me from losing my mind is the love and support that I keep getting from my friends, family, and my wife... That's the kind of love that keeps me enduring this painful Love & Hate kind of lifestyle at least until I'm free from here and everything else bad in here...

no competition / It's never killing season, but she will kill them all / A real ever testify / Her love is terrifying, plus she's a real diene / She's always looking good when she come through the hood / Nigga's be hollering, while she keeps building bodies / She never stays at home, but leave you all alone / You just a fool in love, that's why she's killing yah / Given your all for love, while she keeps draining yah.

"Let Me Love You"

(Verse-1:) What did I do to deserve this/I keep thinkin about our last kiss/and lies, but what I don't get... How you ran away like it's all okay/I don't wanna play/I just wanna stay/leaving you's a sin girl, I just want you here girl/Let's move cross the state, to start new far away...

(Chorus:) Baby let me love you/I put no one before you, except my God above you/Baby let me love you/Cause I just wanna please, it's not my style to tease/
Baby let me love you/You know that I adore you/Do anything there for you/Baby let me love you/Cause I just wanna please you/It's not my style to tease you/So let me love you/Girl let me show you/So you'll know...

(Verse-2:) You can call me crazy but/I just wanna love you/Give me another chance too/Show you that I'm different girl/I don't wanna mess around I just wanna make you smile/Girl just let me stay awhile, so we can have another child...

(Chorus-Repeat)

(Verse-3:) I know you must be going insane/I know I shouldn't feel this way/But I fell and didn't care what people think/And I'm glad that you had given me a chance/Cause now our love's grown, and I can show you some real love...

"Ms. Coffee"

(Verse-1:) It's after twelve in the morn, and yah sleepin babe/Not too long just got home from working really late/You know it's hard for me, seeing you in lingerie/Got me feeling whippa-pill like Baby use to say/Barely sleepy guess your body left your smell on me/It got me wide awake like I had some coffee babe/You know I like it nice and hot/With sugar and some cream/Just take one sip of you, and girl I'll go all night with yah...

(Chorus:) Don't ever get tired, Don't ever cum fast/As long's I got a cup of Ms. Coffee/You'll always be alert, so don't ever be a jerk/If you really wanna cup of Ms. Coffee/Her taste is so mean, so keep her on the team/Cause you'll never get enough of Ms. Coffee/Don't let her out your sight, cause she's known to start a fight/If you ever fall in love with Ms. Coffee...
