Foreword

On the addictions section, I apologize if you are a recovering drug addict reading this. I grew up in a substance abuse family and I lived in Los Angeles, CA. during the advent of Ricky Ray Ross. I encourage you to read my "anti-drug abuse" poetry as a means of therapy. Look back at your past and laugh but remember: "Look back but do not go back!" Me myself, I never had a substance abuse problem excepting for sexual issues. Trust me, I know how you feel none the less.

Some of these poems have been written as far back as 1991 to 1992, some were written originally as a gift for an inmate trying to win back or impress their girls. I have always been topped for that, a real "Cyrano de Bergerac". My first and only poetry recital was at a night club by Bachman lake in Dallas, Texas in 1992 where I read Caprice Houston's dedicated poems out loud as part of a talent show at then R & J's by the lake. (She did not deserve the applause I got, but oh well!)

I apologize for any misspelling if any on bluish or blueish. Again, enjoy your poetic experience.

Yours truly,
Yelton J. Matley

Glass House Hearts

My Heart is a Glass House
Where all is shown
There my lover lives deep inside, and she's all alone
So deep in my heart,
you can plainly see
So deep inside, she cannot break free.

Living in a Glass house
one should not cast stones Cause if you do, you are on your own.

For upon the ceiling a stone she did cast,
Felling deadly shards of broken glass
And as the roof came down
she cried for help...

Knowing all the while she killed herself!

To My daughter
Autora S. Matthews;
"A punishment poem..."

Evidencing the Broken Heart

Falling in Love.

Is an experimentation in the Art, of fragmentation.

I now expound and extrapolate the facts
From the cleavage and clefts called "cracks"

Forming unique sectors, segments, and parts
On the surface of broken hearts!

You don't fall in love

Love falls on you

On some it falls like stones

On others it falls like dew

You are either crushed by it's eueight

Or like dew you hope evaporates

Falling light or falling hard,

In sundrious pieces - multiple strands

Now with the cracks ever present

I offer you the evidence

Armed Shadow: Pale Horse Riding

I am the Armed shadow
Made from rumors and prophetic tales
My torch is now the weapon
That lights your path to hell
Heed you foe, now what I say
For the pale horse rides today.

I am what I am
You made me to be Created from apathy, a living murder fantasy
My father in heaven, as sure as his kingdom comes
I shall cook my pound of flesh
And it will be more than done!
Heed you foe, what I now say
For the pale horse rides today.

A Game of Spades

I saw a black hearted Jack
Jack a red hearted Queen
The Queen fought back
But the Jack was too mean
The King of Hearts stepped in
The Queen of Hearts he loved
Took vengeance on the Jack
Beat him black with a Club!
The battle raged on and took a change of pace.
What started with the Jack began with an Ace.
Nor, hearts or diamonds or clubs do
I have.
But the Spades seek havoc while the Joker laughs.

Naval Shipyard 1965

Barnacles and rust are on their aging hulls,
Among the flying fish and screeching gulls,
Past coral reefs and anemone,
away from foreign land and endless sea.
Rest the grandest ladies of maritime,
Such lovely lasses of their time!
Now rusting whores anchored in docks
They beat Japan, but not the clock!

The Jealous Sea

Like the whip that breaks the slave
Rushing tides and crashing waves,
With gusting winds and foaming tides,
That cracks and breaks against the shore with pride.
But the sea shall availeth not,
in its cruel and savage onslaught,
With siren screams and Banshee wails,
Gusting passion beneath my sails.
It releases the power of Poseidon uncaged, and the shore shall contain his rage.
Consuming all the fury of the tide,
with all its strength and pride.
And against the shore the sea shall scream with malevolent eyes jealous deep, sea-green upon the shore its passions hot, with all the strength it's got.

And out to sea the tide goes safely
Because its love will never take me.

Fishing: "The Smart Shark"

There are many fish in the sea
Where upon hope I cast my line
And on the hook, my bait shiver and shook,
Cast beneath the blue and brine.
Then capricious came the shark,
Devouring the bait - My heart!
Then that foul denizen of the dark
Tore my lines apart!
Not love nor happiness can one find
With such cheap bait and tawdry lines.

Here you go
Prince Namor!
Growing Shurk Puppies
need their food! (giggle!)
This will run off that love sick land dweller.
He's kinda cute though!
Well, maybe if he uses a Prada bag for bait (giggle!)

In storms of my eyes sky blueish gray
On a fast ship my heart sails away
For distant shores my eyes sky blueish gray
To its harbors safe with tranquil lagoons
Where awaits my love, "Please come home soon."
But in my voyage home the sea attacks!
My safe trek home is thrown off track
And on my radio my cry, "Mayday"
Dies with my hope of home "someday"

Her eyes are the ocean lost
Where my heart is torn and tossed
But on flotsam wreckage I set adrift
Where the backs of Dolphins my hopes do lift,
To that tranquil lagoon
My eyes sky blueish gray
Where my love pulled me from the sea - that day.

Mayday!

She's the Sun

She's the sun cloaked in Night
And even that darkness can't eclipse her light
Among other women she burns all day
Burning them like fog goes away,
Let my heart be a shore
With a white sand beach
Where her radiance heats the land
And the surf kiss her feet!

And out of the darkness
Brilliant, Blinding
Her beauty burns away the darkness,
Glimmering, shining
Bright and Beautiful to see
A soul dancing free!

YJM

Your Soul the Sun

You are an attraction I cannot avoid,
The lure of a planet in the vast empty void.

I sit in that darkness waiting for one that's so true,

To give my life perspective,

And my eyes a view,

And now in a burst of brilliance blinding

Your soul leaps out the darkness shimmering, shining!

A sun for my world to see

Your soul dances free

The Desert Rose

over the mountains the sun creeps.
In beige splendor my desire seeks.
The beauty and the majesty wise men know.
The legend and the story of the Desert Rose,
Many creatures in this wasteland survive,
With countless wonders that do surprise.
But even in the desert, even wise men know,
That the desert and the rock cannot support a rose.

No hot terra firma cracks barren dry
Or hot blazing sun, high noon blue sky
No brazen heat the dry wind blows
Can take away the beauty of the Desert Rose.

After Glow

Shining like the Sun is what you do
With the Radiant glow of motherhood within you
The light of Love within you grows
Shining in the after glow

Trapped in the darkness are the stars that shine.

Trapped in my arms I know you are mine.
Observers see the stars in the distance,

And they know were in Love in an instant!

And like the stars in the

they can plainly see.

That your heart and child,
they belong to me.

The radiant glow of you flows.

Tempting Like Eve

Did Adam fall from grace, or did he fall in love?

Eve bit the fruit for power.

Adam bit the fruit for love.

A succulent bounty from the tree,

In your hands bearing fruit for me

And if Eve's truly the likeness of you,

Maybe I'd fall and eat it too!

You're every desire I know and wish

The essence of Temptation to resist.

You see Adam did not know, but Eve knew.

The allure you possess in the things that you do.

Adam became amenable to her whims

Eve took supple flesh and seduced him!

Pouring passion from an endless cup,

Adam gave way and opened up!

Using all the tricks Eve could,

they ate that deadly fruit good!

You are wanting without end

My guilty pleasure sin.

"Oh! I cannot 'wait' to punish you Eve! Especially! I see you Tramp! Wait until you have Abel! Hussy!"

Trust me Adam, when I teach you to eat 'this', I'll teach you sweeter things to eat! Did you know I can produce sweet nectar and honey for you to taste? (giggle!)

From the Frost of Plums and Juice of Grapes

My desires thirst that cannot wait,
Lusting, for the Frost of plums and juice of grapes.
In my beggar's cup your juice shall pour
Drinking, thirsting, want you more!
And from your lips love wakes afresh
The intoxicating dreams from the wine we pressed!
My desire for you is a fermenting torment
While my bottle holds the wine your sugar ferments.
And every drop from you I shall wrench
Till my lips have'd cool and my thirst has quenched!

The Rose of Van Alystine, Texas

There is not a more tempting flower
On any road that I've seen
Such a magnificent flower
That is the Rose of Van Alystine

More fragrant, more flowing, more picturesque
More radiant, more glowing
Than all the rest
And despite your thorns
And other flowers that grew
Your beauty, your radiance
Still shines true.

Your fragrance alluring,
Eminence vaulting,
Blossoming magnificent
Beauty halting

Lost Chocolate Found

Oh Octavia!

Did you fall off the chocolate truck again and to the ground?

I have forgotten my lunch.

So I'll unwrap you and munch

It would be honest to put you back

But chocolate's my favorite snack!

Two causes dreams

Three oozes cream

Four utters screams.

Wrong

To be wrong one must recognize it for what it is.

All circumstances, results, and proof.

Through all the hatred and lies.

And ultimately... the truth.

For you sailed that ocean for years,

In a boat held afloat on tears.

The sails are chances that we blew

On an ocean "you" made blue!

Now you sail forever more,

Never to know another shore,

Singing this lonely song on

The ship of being-wrong.

Cinnamon Sun Burst

A taste brings hunger
And a sip brings thirst.

She's cinnamon sun burn from cinnamon sun burst!

Caught by her beauty transfixed

Rich, burning spice are her lips.

Both hot to the tongue and hot to the touch.

Flowing heat and sexual grace she's started an arms race!

In my heart the arms build up

When you look in the mirror

When you look in the mirror observe what you see
The things that appear do not have to be

Your frown become a smile

Your old clothes are now new style.

You look in the mirror, you look at your dreams.

For deep in your heart there dwells a queen

You got to look, she's deep in there.

She will only come out, if you fix your hair.

Lose the doctot, you lose the weight

Then you'll be chased for lusses and dates.

So when you look in the mirror observe what you see.

For Dreams are closer than they appear to be.

More challenges left, more obstacles to move

A real Easter

Easter is celebrated in routine and habit with bespeckled colored eggs carried by kids and rabbits.

And among the new grass where the flowers arise play the happy little children in new Easter clothes

They are oblivious to the world's suffering and grief concentrating upon the candy and eggs that they seek.

Laughing and frolicking in the sun they are beaming oblivious to the agony of a man that is screaming
"Eloi, Eloi, Sabachthani! Sabachthani! The work is now done!"

Yet the kids hide eggs and play in the sun.

The New life Easter

So you got a new life on Easter Sunday

Is your life still new now that it's Monday?

The season has changed and now so did you.

Giving up the evil and sin that you do

But will the seed take hold and bear good fruit?

May that seed in you ressurect

A ~~fruit~~ fruit that is sweet and a life that is perfect.

The Mystery of American Justice

In the streets and ghettos where crime is found,
There are no weapons factories or drug plantations ~~around!~~

At crime and injustice we ask ourselves and stare:

"Where do the drugs and weapons come from and how did they get 'here'?"

Money and power are the base of sin.

The elite and powerful bring it in.

They pack prisons and say colors are to blame.

But poor niggahs, chinks, and spiks own not boats or planes!

They own not marijuana or coca leaf farms,

Nor make the Russian, German, Swiss made arms!

The true criminals hide behind justice's shields

And reap the profit of poppy fields!

You've hit me all day long
Now.... Get your punk ass up!"

The rock proceeded to pound the smoker
3 hooks and a Jab
Put his head in a choker

†The smoker fought back
With no avail
You can't hurt a rock
So his punches failed!

The Police laughed
As they broke up the scuffle!
They never saw a rock,
Do the Ali shuffle!

A real Crack Attack

Tired of being smoked for crack
The rock found the courage
To hit the smoker back

"You abused me for too long
I'm out the pipe punk it's on.

Smoking and talking shit!

How does it feel to take a hit?!"

And the rock would not halt
It's cruel and vicious aggravated assault
Into the smoker he did light
With sticks and bottles
And even his own pipe!

And on the head with a mighty stroke
His skull did crack and pipe did broke
"Prevailing a bad and dangerous stone
Leave that rock alone.
